"Child of Tomorrow", a Parenting Workshop held in Hyderabad by XSEED | Discover!

Hyderabad, February 13: India sends new born baby with two behaviours. One is sleeping and the other one is crying. He sleeps for 16 hours a day. These are the only two behaviours the new born knows. Next he explores. He spends one third of his day in school, another one third at home and spends one third sleeping. So who are responsible for child behaviour.

First it is parents and next teachers. Anything child learns in the initial phase of life is from parents and teachers. What are your expectations? It is the parents and teachers who can mould the life the way you wish. Dr. Savita said, children come into this world without purpose. Their life depends on how we bring up. Their future lies in your hands she told the parents. Whether he becomes negative or positive is in your hands. If you have not taught your child to accept failure, he will not be able to handle failure. Failure are stepping stones for success.

Failure can be friend of your child. Nobody succeeds without failure. Teach your child to live with the failures and rejections. They are part of the life. Don't constantly remind what your child's weakness. Be positive. Praise him of his strengths. Praise him of his potential. Push your child towards success, she said. She answered questions of many parents on the parenting.

Speaking on the occasion, Ashish Rajput, Founder & Managing Director, Discover Education said Child of Tomorrow will highlight how good parenting can help shape the child's future in today's competitive times. Ashish shared his experience in child development and highlighted the role of parents in context of education and learning.

Child of Tomorrow was a unique workshop that has been designed to give the parent firsthand account of the child's strengths and weaknesses. The workshop aimed to go beyond the traditional Progress Report route and give a Strength Report for the child that will enable the parent to understand the child better so that he/she could be nurtured accordingly.

The workshop involved a series of activities that has been designed to help one become the ideal parent, and the child to become the ideal student. These activities recognize the fact that all children are special in their own right, and can be taught the learning techniques that suit their way of learning.

Discover is working towards bringing cutting-edge research insights to increase the knowledge base of school leaders. The organization has started work on empowering parents on their role in school education, and the workshop Child of Tomorrow held is a significant step in that direction.
