Hyderabad, February 14: Parents and teachers have to mould the life of children the way potter moulds clay into whatever objectives he wants, said Dr. Savita Date Menon, Senior V President, Clinical Psychologist and a Wellness Specialist while addressing "Child of Tomorrow" a Parenting Workshop here at Yogi Bear Children Park on Sunday morning.

The workshop for Parents' was organised by IDiscoveri to realise the potential of their child, IDiscoveri is the innovative education enterprise focused on learning and leadership. It was the first of its kind XSEED workshop. It was designed to help a parent understand and identify their child's true potential the workshop.

Addressing the gathering of well over 200 parents and their children in the age group of 4-1 years, DR. Savita said, children come into this world without baggage. Their life depends on how we shape up. Their future lies in your hands she told the parents.

Speaking on the occasion Ashish Rajpal, Founder & Managing Director, IDiscoveri Education said Child of Tomorrow will highlight how good parenting can help shape the child's future in today's competitive times. Ashish shared his experience in child development and highlighted the role of parents' in context of education and learning.

IDiscoveri is working towards bringing cutting-edge research insights to improve the knowledge base of school leaders.
